Product Description

Product Description:

The Food Waste Disposer is a remarkable machine that can convert kitchen waste into fertilizer in just 4 to 8 hours. It features a one-button startup and is intelligent enough to automatically adjust the operating time according to the water content of the waste. This device significantly improves convenience, enabling people to save time on kitchen cleaning while also actively protecting the environment.

The machine functions in three main steps. The first step is drying. It utilizes high temperature to effectively reduce the moisture content of the waste to an extremely low level. Next comes the grinding process. The sharp blades within the bucket work at a high speed to pulverize the waste into fine particles, which are then transformed into fertilizer. The last step is cooling. After the grinding is finished, the machine cools down the temperature of the bucket so that it can be safely removed from the machine right away.
